ELY INVASIVE SPECIES WORKSHOP

HOSTED BY NORTH ST. LOUIS AND LAKE SOIL & WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICTS

Join us on Saturday, August 3rd at the MN North College Vermilion Campus Room CC 109 in Ely for a day of networking and learning about invasive species! Hear from local natural resource professionals and community members about terrestrial and aquatic invasive plants that exist in the Ely area, the threats they pose to our ecosystem, and what you can do to help stop the spread. This is a free event that features demonstrations and speakers from the Minnesota DNR, Superior National Forest, and Ely Field Naturalists, along with North St. Louis & Lake Soil & Water Conservation Districts. We hope to see you there!

Funding is available to assist private landowners in this region with removing priority invasive species on their property. Stop by this event or contact your local Soil and Water Conservation District to learn if you qualify!
